Destitution in North Carolina.

A correspondent of the New York World writing from Raleigh, North Carolina, says:

The awful suffering and loss of this people in the war of rebellion can with difficulty be told. For two weeks I have moved among sights and sounds of woe. There is not much visible enjoyment among the Southern population, unless it is in the presence of our forces. There is a certain relief, a comparative gratification at the end of the fighting; but the struggle has left behind it such terrible wounds that days and years will elapse before the shadows of desolation will disappear. There are no smiles, no peals of laughter, no music, no merry-making; all is sadness and gloom, except among those who reflect the gaiety of our troops.

Nearly every house is a house of mourning. Those who mourn not the dead have other grief. The rich are poor, the poor humbled, and the ambitious baffled. All progress has been suspended. For four long years the arts and graces have stopped. The barest necessities alone were attended. Houses and stores, gardens and farms, have gone to rack. No repairs gone on. The whole face of the country which bears man's impress has lapsed into ruin and neglect. The most ordinary precautions have been neglected. In a population which traveled so much, the traveling facilities have disappeared. At the hotels, the towels have disappeared, carpets gone, mirrors shattered. The beds are turned to heaps of filth. Meals have been furnished only after the money has been paid; such meals—gracious Heavens! how have men and women subsisted? On the railways the cars are all broken, leaky, dirty; seats without backs or cushions. No eating stations, but at wide intervals a collection of two or three wretched old women, who have for sale a corn-cake, or perchance a bilious-looking cherry or blackberry pie. The accumulation of dirt also is astonishing, in streets, houses, vessels—everywhere. It appears as if the collected debris of four years remained. Activity in its usual channels, which at the North had proceeded without change, has here become stagnant. It would seem as if during the early part of the struggle everybody had been waiting till the independence was acknowledged, before they made any exertions in other departments, when by some process unintelligible to the Northern mind they were one and all to be made rich and prosperous. During the latter two years, they have been waiting as if it were useless to do anything until the struggle was decided.

Even now that the war is closed they seem to have little notion of the vast amount of work to be cleared away, and the necessity for immediate, continued, and steady labor. Men gather in groups about the stores, street corners, depots, and other public places, as if chaos were new again, and it needed a new manifestation of Providence to restore it to order.

The loss of property has been great, very great. The stock of goods held has been almost entirely consumed. With the exception of the little store of tobacco, cotton and rice, there is literally nothing beyond the actual requirements of the day. Gray cloth has been manufactured to some extent in this State, but there is not cloth enough to clothe its men. Cotton sheetings and checks have also been produced, but half the people are ill-clad. In the rural parts the spinning wheel has been spinning cotton, and a few hand-looms are tossing their shuttles to and fro, but this supplies hardly sufficient for domestic wants. Of provisions there is barely sufficient to serve until the standing crops shall have been reaped. The food of the masses has long been reduced to corn-bread and bacon, both of poor quality. It is true, other nations have been reduced to greater extremities. For example, in parts of France in 1817 the people were reduced at last to eat nettles, [illegible] and fodder fit only for cattle. Dead bodies, in numbers were found along the roads, whose stomachs were found filled with unwholesome herbage, and shrunk by the action of the [illegible] Similarly the inhabitants of Germany and [illegible] were reduced to starvation after long wars.

The South has not been reduced to this pitch of poverty, neither did they begin the contest in the same destitution. It may be taken as evidence of the scarcity of provisions that on many plantations the masters have said to their servants: "I can't feed you; if you can find living anywhere you had better go." On others they have been obliged to omit the scanty little ration of meal on Sundays. Some of the negroes say they have tasted no meal for six months. Money they have none. What hoards of specie may be in the country, is held until times improve. The poor old women, sixty years of age, bring little lots of cooks, pies, green apples and [illegible] to the trains in the hope of getting a little good money. Small change is the great want. I urge upon all travelers hitherward the necessity of supplying themselves with an abundance of fractional currency. It is with the utmost difficulty that the exchange of small articles can be made for the want of small change.

The waste of war in property has been great, but the waste in life has been unparalleled by any modern people. It is doubtful if even the rebel archives, which were scattered between Danville and Charlotte, can furnish approximately the number of men in the ranks from beginning to the end. On account of the number of desertions and uncounted deaths it will be impossible to arrive at the number killed. The surgeons' reports and the official reports cannot do more than furnish the means for a wide guess. For instance, North Carolina claims to have furnished 100,000 or one eighth of her white population. Of these, not more than one-third have as yet returned.

At the several railway stations groups of old men and women of all ages are gathered to watch for the arrival of some of their kindred from Northern prisons, or to hear, if possible, some word of information of their missing friends and their prospects of release. Point Lookout is regarded here with something of the same horror as Libby Prison is at the North, though they do not appear to know specifically much about the treatment.

Hailing from the North, my companion and myself are often asked for news regarding the prisoners, which we are unable to give. One wistful-looking young damsel, as fair as any in the State perhaps, for comely females are extremely rare, importuned us yesterday to send word to the North for one of her particular friends. "Where is he?" we enquired. "Oh, you all ha' got him at the North, and I just wish you would try and get him released, for I'm mighty bad off so long as he's away." Finding that his name was Bob Thorn, we hereby call the attention of the War Secretary to the case, and beg him to set the bleeding heart of this poor Carolina maiden right.

DROWNED.—A man by the name of David Tompkins was drowned in the Boise a few miles up the river, last Monday. He was at work driving logs for the Boise Boom Co. and accidentally fell into the river from a log he was running down stream. Deceased was the same man who accidentally shot and killed a man near Idaho City a few weeks ago, supposing him to be a wild animal. He had been at work for the company but a few days, was a native of New York, and about 53 years of age. If this notice should meet the eye of any of his friends, they can ascertain further particulars by addressing C. P. Bodfish, Boise City.—Idaho Statesman, July 27th.

JEFF DAVIS TWENTY YEARS AGO.—An American missionary in Southern India writes to the New York Independent the following: "To enjoy his present dilemma you should have heard him talk some twenty years ago—as I used to in Mississippi—of the divine institution, and the certainty that all the Middle and Western States would join the South and receive the 'institution' themselves, if Southern Statesmen would only assert their rights at peril of disunion. Jeff. is the Catiline of the whole conspiracy."

THE TOWN OF COLFAX.—Some of the citizens of Sacramento visited the new town of Colfax, on the line of the Pacific Railroad, on Saturday for the purpose of attending the sale of town lots which took place on the ground on that day. About 50 lots were sold at auction. The lowest price paid for any lot was $100, and the highest price $450. A number of the residents of Folsom were present and purchased lots for business purposes.—Sac. Union.

THE PRETTIEST CHICAGO GIRL.—The $1,000 dressing case at the Chicago Sanitary Fair, for the prettiest girl in Chicago, was voted to Miss Anna L. Wilson, who received 1,073 votes to 1,068 for another lady, and 732 for a third. The whole number of votes, at a dollar each, was 3,471.

Commerce and Defences of the Great Lakes

A late number of the [illegible] Weekly contains an interesting article on the trade, the outlets and defences of the Great Lakes. The commerce of these waters employs more than two thousand vessels and some twenty thousand sailors. Railroads whose aggregate number cannot easily be computed converge towards every port on the lakes and constantly supply the material which keeps up the wonderful activity of this enormous trade. At present this traffic amounts in value to twelve hundred millions of dollars annually and so rapidly does it increase that the largest estimates of its prospective greatness have been more than surpassed by the wonderful realities of its actual growth. So rapidly do the States which border on the lakes increase in population, so fast does the amount of their products multiply, that it is perfectly reasonable to suppose that the commerce of these interior waters will continue to grow in the same ratio as during the past two decades. There is no reason why those States should not double their present population within the next twenty years, and consequently no reason why the commerce of the lakes should not increase in the same proportion.

The value of the lake trade then cannot be over estimated. Its protection in case of a war with Great Britain next becomes a question. It was proposed in the last Congress to provide for widening and deepening of the Illinois and Michigan Canal so that war vessels could be sent through from the Mississippi to the lakes, at least that in the event of hostilities we should be able to put an armament on those waters sooner than England could send her fleets up the St Lawrence into lake Ontario and from thence through the Welland Canal into the lakes above. We do not doubt but that this could be accomplished, but for reasons hereinafter given, we do not see the necessity of undertaking the work for the purpose above mentioned. In the first place the project would cost an enormous sum. Not only would the Illinois and Michigan Canal have to be widened and sunk lower, but the Illinois river would have to be deepened throughout almost its whole length. Even if this should be done, the channel thus excavated, would be refilled by the deposits of a single season. It would be impossible to keep the Illinois river open so that vessels of war could pass through at all times. And even if this could be done, the Mississippi in its lowest stage of water is not sufficiently deep to permit heavy vessels to pass wherever it might be thought desirable to send them. Granting, however, that iron vessels could ascend the Mississippi, there would be no way for them to pass through to the lakes unless a wide and deep canal were excavated the whole distance from the river last named to lake Michigan. This, of course, could be done as we remarked a while ago, but the expense would be very great—too great, indeed, to be [illegible] unless there be no other way of protecting our valuable commerce on the lakes.

It is worth while to inquire what danger there is that in case of war, English fleets would ascend the St. Lawrence, pass into the lakes and destroy our cities and commerce. The St Lawrence river is frozen over more than half the year, so that during this long period no vessels can force their way through it. Should a declaration of war between the two countries be made in the [illegible] season, we would have sufficient time to build as many iron ships on the lakes as we should want, before any British vessels could come through, after waiting for the ice to clear away. The materials of which to construct these vessels, is ready in the founderies of Pennsylvania.—From experience we know that a period of a few weeks suffices to build them. Besides, we shall not hereafter, be wholly devoid of an armament on the lakes. If war should break out now, we are better prepared for it than our opponents would be. We could arm steamers much faster than they. Their canal through which it is said they would send vessels into lake Erie, would not [illegible] in their possession a month after the commencement of hostilities. We should have very little to fear from England and the Canadas, since the whole country north of the lakes would be in our hands in three months time.

A far greater and more valuable military work than the projected canal from lake Michigan to the Mississippi, is the contemplated Pacific railroad. Nor would the value of this railroad rest solely on the advantages that the country would receive from it in case we should be involved in foreign war. No other work could possibly do so much for the whole country as this. It would not only unite the extremes of our vast national [illegible], but with the aid of steam vessels across the Pacific, would bring our country within [illegible] of the richest trade of the world. We of the West do not need it more than do they of the East; and the interest that is now being manifested in its favor, seems to promise that in a few years the work will be done.

European Emigrants.—The European emigrants to the United States between the years 1846 and 1860 are numbered and nationalized as follows, leaving out Great Britain and Ireland:

[illegible]	1 546 000
France	208,000
Switzerland	24,000
[illegible]	80,000
Italy and Spain	27,000

It is computed that the number of emigrants to this country from England, Ireland and Wales, for the same period, is fully equal to those given above.

The "Democracy" of California will not "fuse" with the few Union bolters of that State because the latter are said not to be "sound," Democratically speaking, on the Constitutional Amendment question. The "sturdy Democracy" of California are determined to re-establish slavery. They spring to the rescue of the Confederate cause a little too late.

What a Fall was There!—We find the following advertisement in the Mazatlan Times:

"F A Hoffman, Boot Maker.

"Sacrifice street opposite St Charles Hotel."

This Talleyrand is the grand nephew of the Talleyrand of history, and has the reputation of being a vulgar obscene fellow.

Old Brigham.—The Union Vedette at Camp Douglas (U T) says:

They say that Brigham Young brought up with him from the southern settlements the trip before last another buxom girl to become his sixty ninth or seventieth wife.

Star City, Nevada, Aug 9.—A messenger from Queen's River Station arrived this morning with the intelligence that Lieut Col McDermit was killed by Indians on the 7th inst. It appears that the Colonel with a portion of Captain Hill's Infantry command and a detachment of cavalry had been out on a scouting expedition and were returning when they were fired upon from a willow thicket wounding Col McDermit mortally and two corporals seriously. Col McDermit lived only four hours. His remains are being brought into Fort Churchill. Further particulars will be furnished to morrow.

New Westminster, Aug 9.—The Russian Telegraph Company's bark Clara Bell, will sail from Sitka for Victoria on the arrival of Colonel Bulkley where she will load with coal and again be sent north. She is a very fine clipper bark and made the passage from New York to Sitka in the extraordinary time of 135 days.

The new and pretty steamer Onward, Captain Irving, arrived here on Saturday morning last and was warmly welcomed by the citizens generally, the big gun on Pointer wharf being fired in honor of her arrival. She has 21 state rooms, a ladies' cabin and a spacious dining saloon.

Latest News from the Scene of the Wreck.

San Francisco, Aug 9.—The steamer Del Norte, which lately took the rescue party to the scene of the wreck of the Brother Jonathan, arrived here at half past two o'clock to-day. The following is her list of passengers: Col T J Wright, U S A; Capt Pollack, U S A; R Harthorn, Levi Parsons, Mrs W W Montague, D H Woods, J W Henderson, C C Broderick, Joseph Wall, Walter Turnbull, Mrs Benton, Mrs Stark and boy, C S Ricks, J J DeHaven, Charles Smith, John Dobbie, W R Brown, C H Ryan, Charles Lord, J A Hooper, J Sundam, Mrs Edwards and fourteen others. Besides these were Mrs Rhinehart, Miss M T Wilder, Mrs Tweedle, one Chinaman and child and eleven of the crew from the wreck of the steamship Brother Jonathan. The following particulars have been received: The Brother Jonathan left San Francisco on Friday noon. The north wind was strong at the outset but the steamer made fair progress until after sunrise on Sunday. The wind then became so violent that less than half of the cabin passengers came to the breakfast table. At the twelve o'clock lunch a still less number was present.

Captain DeWolf took the bearings and informed the officers that the steamer was four miles north of the latitude of Point St. George, which point is three miles above Crescent City. The wind continuing to increase in violence, Capt DeWolf, at [illegible] o'clock gave orders to turn the steamer and steam for Crescent City harbor, sixteen miles south eastward. The intention was to anchor in the bay till the next morning and then resume the trip. The Quartermaster, Yates, says that they had returned seven or eight miles and were eight miles due west of Point St George, when without warning, the steamer struck with full force upon a sharp ledge which at the lowest ebb projected about a yard above the surface. The bottom of the steamer went to pieces with a crash in three minutes. The wheelman says that large fragments of the bottom and a part of the rudder were afterwards seen alongside the wreck. There was no frantic[illegible] among the passengers, though they as well as the officers must have had a full sense of their awful peril. Captain DeWolf ordered one of the large boats lowered and filled with passengers under the first mate. None of the rescued saw her till she was floating bottom upwards. The Captain then ordered the second mate to lower his boat, which was already filled with female cabin passengers among whom was Mrs Geo Wright. The boat was lowered, but before the seamen had time to man her, the steamer careened and upset her throwing all on board into the water. The main [illegible] such of the ladies as he could reach from the steamer's chains where he held on. It was now fifteen minutes since the shock and the steamer was going to pieces. The third mate Mr Patterson was then[illegible]. When the crash came he lowered his small boat and hurried on board five women and three children who were nearest at hand. Eleven of the crew leaped after him including two wheelmen, steerage steward and two firemen. The load was large for the boat and she lipped incessantly, but the strength and coolness of the mate brought her within two miles of Crescent City bar. Two guns were fired, but after the boat had left the steamer and she disappeared under the billows in about fifteen minutes. Capt DeWolf, Gen Wright, Mr Lord Wells, Large [illegible] a messenger and Mr Nash were on deck when last seen by the rescued crew. There were two boats on deck when the third mate left but owing to the terrible violence of the sea it is not probable that either of them could be launched. The citizens of Crescent City immediately sent out boats but found it utterly impossible to go within six miles of the wreck. The attempts were renewed on Monday and Tuesday but it was not till Wednesday afternoon that the spot could be reached. The boat probably lies one hundred and fifty feet below the surface. There were about seven hundred tons of merchandise freight besides the passengers' baggage all closely under hatch. At this time Sunday [illegible] not a single body has been recovered or a person heard of save those who reached shore in the boat of the third mate. It is generally thought that the fragments and floating baggage drifted southward. A shattered boat, mattress and a few buckets are all that have been picked up. Something more will probably drift ashore between here and Humboldt but we are reluctantly led to believe that not another living person of the two hundred and forty on the ill fated steamer, save the nineteen now here, will ever be found.

Later.—At Gold Bluff between Crescent City and Trinidad a body was picked up. It was with [illegible] clothing lashed to [illegible] the [illegible] at [illegible]; light hair, [illegible] beard, dark hair, [illegible] whiskers, weight about 160 or 180 pounds [illegible] about 40 years.

Authors and Critics.—When authors complain of the injustice and stupidity of critics the latter may fairly retort that they never committed more egregious blunders than their accusers when they have assumed the [illegible]. Waller said Paradise Lost had no merit but its length. Voltaire called Shakspeare a barbarian. Burnet told Dryden The Hind and Panther was the worst poem of the age. Horace Walpole thought [illegible] son superior to Beaumont and Fletcher. [illegible] compared Scott's novels to the pantomimes of the stage. Wordsworth insisted that Thomson [illegible] won popularity by common place sentimentality and a vicious style. When Brougham "woke snakes" by remitting the Hours of Idleness to that class of poetry "which neither gods nor men are said to permit," Byron vindicated himself by a ferocious onslaught on his fellow poets, criticising them with considerably greater vigor than fairness; and in our own day, we have a lady novelist whose works are not remarkable for their ultra refinement expressing her disgust at the coarseness of Charlotte Bronte, and her indignation at the favor accorded to Mr Dickens's "encyclopedia of pot house pleasantries."—Chamber's Journal

Summerville, says the Walla Walla Statesman, is the name of a new town beginning to grow into importance in the Grand Ronde Valley. It is situated at the foot of the mountains, at or near Mr W H Patten's ranch, on Thomas & Co's new road. A post office has just been established there, and residents of the place claim that their town will rival La Grande.

Rejoinder to Myers.

THE FOLLOWING IS THE LIST OF PRICES (AS per Circular from Springfield Ohio, which I have in my possession) of James Leffel's American Double Turbine Water Wheels:

	Cost at Springfield Ohio	Cost at Portland, Ogn
10 inch Wheel,	$250 Currency	$600 Gold
16	275	875
20	325	1,000
30	450

Owing to currency being only 50 cents to the dollar at the time my agent wrote, Leffel added 10 per cent in addition to the price of his wheels.

To secure a patent in any State the law requires that the wheels should be manufactured in the State, and that the prices be uniform.

In his signature to his advertisement of his wheels Myers signs himself Leffel & Myers which shows positively that he (Myers) has no patent right for this coast.

It is dishonest and thieving in any firm to make a difference of three or four hundred per cent between their customers East and West. aul0d3t* J HEXTER

Horsemen, Now is Your Time!

I EXPECT TO EXHIBIT COBERG AND HIS FAMILY of Colts at the Oregon State Fair, Oct 7th at Salem. I challenge the coast to meet me and produce a Family of a well authenticated history of a Family in America, that will surpass them for size, form, style, [illegible] and their adaptation to general use except sporting purposes. I will have some yearling colts for sale.

Persons wishing to secure the services of COBERG in Northern Oregon for the season of 1866 can do so by seeing me on my way to or at the Fair.

I deem it unnecessary to give an extended description here, but would invite persons to call and see for themselves. Would say that I have reliable information that where the COBERG stock has been in use in Illinois, for years, at least, they give satisfaction, and bring more money than any other stock of horses.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEES — Nearly every town on the Pacific has had its Vigilance Committee and mob law has prevailed to a certain extent for the suppression of disorder [illegible]. It may not be generally known that Portland was at one time ruled by the Vigilantes [illegible] and the [illegible] show that she [illegible] Chinooks, a resident of the town in 1851 has been recounting to us some of the things that happened twelve years ago, during the reign [illegible] which is a huge days the city [illegible] The Vigilance Committee [illegible] and property [illegible] poor devil, named Spaulding [illegible] found with [illegible] not feel going [illegible] infringements of private rights and suspected [illegible] committed crimes and [illegible] day in mid [illegible] band of Vigilance [illegible] possession of the person [illegible] mystery of [illegible] clothes lines [illegible] carried the culprit [illegible] him into the presence of the assembled Vigilance [illegible] commonwealth [illegible] deemed to be publicly whipped [illegible] tell us all the crimes Spaulding was charged with [illegible] he turned out to be a lazy [illegible] good for nothing fellow, at the best and it was needed that the [illegible] thing he had any real claim [illegible] and that he was sentenced to receive [illegible] since the poor wretch was [illegible] securely lashed to a young [illegible] the sentence of this modern [illegible] was an exciting moment [illegible] Vagabond in Portland [illegible] in those days, still remembers some [illegible] lee, who made a claim [illegible] prit and the law, but [illegible] mercy — [illegible] to a little distance took [illegible] made a speech, which was [illegible] ting the fellow through but [illegible] that if Spaulding would [illegible] should answer all practical purposes [illegible] decided to be satisfaction enough for outraged justice. A pen picture of the crowd [illegible] whose faces are still remembered by the oldest [illegible] would be interesting but we forego that part of it. Suffice to say, many [illegible] savage as a [illegible] axe, at the [illegible] culprit. Among others, was Kimbrick Norris, one of the old residenters and for a long time County Clerk — a quiet but [illegible] D. C. Coleman, a merchant on Front street, figured in the crowd [illegible] A. H. Francis, whilom barber [illegible] merchant, and also idler, lent a variety to the scene as a spectator, though the crowd looked so dark and [illegible] of a colored individual [illegible] a more progressing [illegible] who lived here long ago came [illegible] and ferociously demanded execution [illegible] Still mercy prevailed, and Spaulding [illegible] into in good order. But the cream of the joke was, that the same [illegible] he had no money to [illegible] by so many exponents of Vigilance. Soon after this the Vigilance Committee disbanded [illegible] the world asks, Did Spaulding leave? He did for a while, though when the Grand Jury met he was found here, trying to get his 37 friends indicted for threatening to whip him or paying him a dollar each, which, it never was decided.

THE GUIDE TO IDAHO — Mr. Magee, canvasser for the Idaho Guide, a small paper published for gratuitous distribution, containing a description of the route to Idaho, [illegible] upon the prospects of the country and a [illegible] has placed a copy of the same upon our table. The Guide is printed at San Francisco. It takes the ground that the only reliable route is via Portland, and pays a [illegible] tribute to the Oregon Steam Navigation Company. Idaho and its mines are ably represented in the [illegible] devoted space of its columns, and the [illegible] remarks are unquestionably correct — we extract [illegible] these claims asks is a fair trial. The Northern coast holds out no fonts fatuus of false promises to the [illegible] asks no hired scribblers to puff her Cartelian and agricultural treasures into the fame of a day. But she does ask to be judged fairly. She asks that everything they put be [illegible] from her while we of the Pacific coast have been lavishing all our attentions upon other [illegible] she asks for a proportionate share of development, and in return she guarantees a result second to no other part of the coast of the Pacific.

FROM LEWISTON — Our whilom friend Frank Dalton returned from Lewiston on Tuesday last. He has taken up his residence among the Lewistonians, and will shortly leave us [illegible] Mr Dalton gives us a good account of that country, and has much confidence that it will yet prove a leading and wealthy portion of Idaho. A new mining region has been discovered quite recently at the head waters of [illegible] river, about fifty miles from [illegible] There has been quite a movement in the [illegible] of the new camp for some weeks, small trains [illegible] every few days, but the first intelligence [illegible] was last week. Twelve or fifteen persons [illegible] on Friday. A man named John Day, who had been to Coeur d'Alene, visited the Palouse mines, and states that the diggings were good, paying an average of [illegible] per day to the hand. The gold was worth $17 60 [illegible] The rush to Coeur d'Alene was immense, but of the large number going there not a fourth part re[illegible] and the opinion is still prevalent that mines will not be [illegible] in that region in consequence of the [illegible] in the country.

[illegible] — Portland seems to be about as healthy a place for dogs as any town in the States. "Henry" has had a bill to the Council for many months [illegible] and it is very likely none have died. In many other places there is a surplus. We see by a [illegible] paper, that quite recently the police [illegible] one hundred and four dogs, in one week [illegible] still continued. We also learn that in New York there is a surplus of the breed. Five hundred and [illegible] dogs were captured during two days, of which only two were redeemed, the remaining 500 [illegible] the extreme penalty of the law.

[illegible] — The editor of the Umatilla Advertiser [illegible] a "specimen" worth $500, taken out [illegible] on Granite Creek last winter. The [illegible] such chunks often. Last week a nugget [illegible] taken out on Olive Creek, which is in [illegible] it is nearly pure, very little rock being [illegible] One thing is certain, the region of Granite Creek is [illegible] rich in placer diggings, and the [illegible] of float-quartz indicates with great [illegible] rich quartz ledge is not far distant. To [illegible] a fortune to all who might be lucky [illegible] to get that therein.

[illegible] MATCH. — On Saturday there will be a trotting [illegible] the Multnomah Course for a purse of $600, [illegible] the [illegible] on the occasion [illegible] for the contest are Mr H. C. Leonard's [illegible] by W. S. Wells, and Mr S. D. [illegible] mare Sally Come Up, by D Donaldson. Admission [illegible] the Park has been placed at fifty cents by the Mr. Welch. The horses are in excellent trim, [illegible] occurs to mar the sport a fine time may be [illegible] upon.

[illegible] — The Circus troupe performed again to a [illegible] last evening. An afternoon entertainment will be given to [illegible], and this evening Columbian Engine Company [illegible] benefit, the firemen will attend in uniform. [illegible] highly recommend Lee & Ryland's Circus to the public, wherever they may cast their [illegible]

[illegible] — In our report of the work performed by the [illegible] yesterday, the snag pulled out of the river was given at forty feet long. It was one hundred and forty feet long. The snag had a root nearly [illegible] for. The tree was two and a half [illegible] near the root.

[illegible] VISITORS. — Hon. Schuyler Colfax, Gov [illegible] and others of that party, were visiting interesting [illegible] in Colorado at latest advices. Vice-President [illegible] on the way from Salt Lake to California. Hon [illegible], of Ohio, is traveling in Montana and will reach Portland soon by the Columbia river. [illegible] in San Fr[illegible]

THE TAXES. — [illegible] attention is directed to the United States [illegible] notice to manufacturers, regarding the monthly report of manufactures and sales. Mr. G. [illegible] has been careful to make the matter public, and if it has been overlooked it is not our fault. This is the last day [illegible] for August.

A NEW BARREL FACTORY — A company of Eastern men have [illegible] a tract of land on the east side of the Willamette river six miles below this city, and engaged upon the erection of a large steam barrel factory. They expect to give employment to about sixty men. We are [illegible] and the works will soon be in operation. [illegible] to the enterprise.

[illegible] — Mr. Buchtel has made a number of [illegible] of the late lamented Gen. Wright from an original plate which was taken at a time when [illegible]. We acknowledge a copy which will [illegible] of the departed com[illegible]

ANOTHER FIRE. — On Monday afternoon a fire broke out in [illegible] Wood Yard, about six miles east of the Cascades, and was not extinguished until about 1200 cords of wood were destroyed. The wood was cut for the use of the O. S. N. Co., but not being delivered the loss falls on the contractors.

THIEVING, RESISTING, AND DRUNK — Three cases were before Recorder Hoffman yesterday. One drunk, dealt with according to merit. [illegible] resisting an officer and warrants were issued for the arrest of a person for threatening an officer.

THE UPPER COLUMBIA MINES. — Reports have recently been in circulation of the discovery of new and rich gold mines on the Columbia, some 37 miles above Fort Encampment. A correspondent of the Walla Walla Statesman, writing under date of Colville, July 25th, says of the report:

Yesterday there was [illegible] from Fort Shepherd that they had found dirt on the bed rock that prospected from $6 to $25 to the pan. I place but little confidence in the report.

Speaking of the Fort Encampment mines, the same correspondent says:

Received a letter from Mr. Abrams dated Carter Creek, New Mines, July 13th. The news was discouraging. The miners were taking out but little money, but they did not want to leave the mines until the river went down. The water was then very high. The miners appear to think that they will find good pay when the water falls. One Company had sunk a hole 41 feet trying to find the bed rock.

SEWARD — Secretary Seward while he lay on his bed of suffering, from the knife wounds inflicted on him by Payne, said:

Time alone is necessary to heal our wounds. These Southern people will come back in peace and obedience. They have been defeated by the ballot box and on the battle field. Having resisted the one and resorted to the other, they are now left completely prostrate, and in this condition they have neither interest nor real inclination to renew a conflict which has only brought beggary to their households, destruction to their colossal fortunes. On our part having proved our strength, it is right that we should now prove our wisdom. Patience, forbearance, magnanimity — these are the instrumentalities which backed by unlimited and unexampled strength, will reëstablish the Republic on enduring foundations.

TO NEUTRALIZE OFFENSIVENESS. — In many forms we use disinfecting agents. Impure breath caused by bad teeth, tobacco, spirits or catarrh, is neutralized by Sozodont. 'Tis a healthful beautifier, and a great luxury as a dentrifice. The repulsive breath is by its use rendered as fragrant as a rose, and coldness by friends or lovers will be no longer noticed.

Sold by all Druggists.

The Benefit To-Night. — Members of Columbian Engine Co. No. 3 will meet at their Engine House this evening at 7½ o'clock precisely, in full uniform. Members of the Fire Department are also respectfully invited to attend, and join with the above Company in the [illegible] to attend the Circus on the occasion of the Benefit.

THE RELEASED REBELS IN NEW YORK.—A squad of ragged fellows may be seen on every square. They are unshorn and scraggy of beard. They wear their hair straight and very long, and support a suspicious looking blanket over their shoulders. Their clothes are of a dirty gray or a dirtier butternut, and they are very independent in the matter of shoes, some wearing a boot and a slipper, others boots of a new pattern, which slope away from the heel, as if, by some transformation, the entire foot had settled into the toes. But with all this destitution and uncleanliness, it is a strange, sad, weary, lost look upon their faces which makes these folks noteworthy. They are political exiles—a class of men of which we read, but whom we never expected to see among us, speaking our tongue, and but late our kinsmen and companions. They are here by thousands, broken, hopeless and penniless, waiting to go to their ruined homes, but so fearful of meeting the changed spectacle that they dally and tarry, and look up to the high marble edifices and lace curtains in our beautiful houses as if they were quite hungry and astray, and spoke another language than ours.

Yesterday we stopped at a hat store, and one of these battered fellows was sitting at the counter. There was an anxious diplomacy in his face; he wanted to engineer a dollar from us.

"That hat just fits you, sir!" he said, as an introductory remark.

"Yes."

"I wonder if I shall ever wear a good hat again."

He took his old soft hat, tarnished and faded, from his large, shapely head, and his hair fell into his fine, tremulous eyes. "I'm a Johnny," he said, with a laugh; "there's some difference between a Johnny and a gentleman." This was said with a sort of quiver and sadness, that was very dramatic because it was very true. "Yes, sir," he continued. "I feel pretty bad in New York. It isn't what it used to be, or I am not; something is different. I remember the time when I lost $5,000 at faro just across the street, and went to bed afterward without any regret. I couldn't afford a glass of beer now. At the hotel just above here I stopped every summer, and kept a sideboard always open in my private parlor. Then I rode in cabs, and was hunkey, boy. Could you give me a dollar, sir?"

This man, and 3,000 such, have been waiting on Hart's Island for the thunder of confederate cannon to announce their deliverance. They were to pass from New York victors, and at home receive the meed of valor in women's endearments and the cheer of welcoming villagers. Farther receded the sound of guns. They saw each morning their new ensign reel and stagger. They heard at last the shock of their cause overthrown, and their prison gates opened to restore them, not to affluence and gratulation, but to hunger and nakedness. Might it not be well to make these miserable beings the apostles of good faith to the wasted South, of which they represent every section.

Among these men are many of more than social position. We fell in the other day with Henry H. Flash, from Alabama, whilom one of the best of Southern poets. The leading physician of the South is also here; the Southern bar and the Southern pulpit are represented. If we are ever to forget that we have been two people, let the conclusion of peace be celebrated by some act of kindness and charity. No news could rebuild a fraternal union so truly as the tidings through the beaten States that three thousand of their captive soldiers, well fed and considerately treated, had joined in the celebration of the coming Fourth of July, standing again beneath the old flag, and singing the venerable patriotic hymns which have rung in our battle camps.

There have already been instanced some individual acts of kindness in this city. Some days ago a well known merchant here encountered upon Broadway a gaunt and grimy figure, in whom he recognized one of his ancient customers. "B—," he said, "you owed me three thousand dollars at the breaking out of the war. You are an honorable man and I shall be paid."

The other laughed bitterly. "I haven't enough in the world to get my boots blackened, if I had the boots."

The citizen took the dirty man's arm in his and took him home to dinner. He gave him an order on a clothier, and had him decently shaved. The man departed with gentlemanly habits, money in his purse, and a heart full of gratitude and revived hopes.

A lady, at the breaking out of the war, was compelled to break a marriage engagement with a gentleman from Charleston. During the war she has been married in this city. A day or two ago, upon Broadway, she encountered, in a weary-gaited, perspiring, and slip-shod rebel lieutenant, the man to whom she was first betrothed. At the time, she was leaning upon her husband's arm. He was familiar with the story of her first attachment. "Heavens!" said the lady "that is T——." The husband left her side immediately and hailed the hungry-eyed man. The three went home together, and the late rebel may be seen every afternoon, at present, dressed like the master of a plantation, lolling at the door of one of the best hotels.

There are hidden in these gnarled beards and tangled eyebrows many handsome countenances. A change of raiment does much to help one's character. Some of these rebel soldiers are dressed from top to toe in federal blue, and they make very dashing fellows, so much like our own that anybody might mistake them for Meade's or Sherman's heroes. They live in a world of contrasts, and what they see makes them wild to think of what they were, and how they are scattered and crushed. In four years they built a revolution which made the globe crackle; their flag was on the seas; their diplomats were received by princes; the same scarred, surly boys who walk our streets, opened their breasts to the shock of armies, and wherever their camp-fires blazed, next night a graveyard stretched under the horizon. The penalty of that revolution was all they did not anticipate. And this it is—a weary walking in the opulent city of their enemy, a begging of a morsel of meat or a fragment of tobacco, a prying into bar-room windows with lips afire, and a pair of old boots down at the heel, and pointing obliquely nowhere.—New York World.

AGAINST NEGRO SUFFRAGE.—It is sheer quackery to make Negro Suffrage the sovereign panacea of Southern ills. Whether it would have any good effect at all—whether, in fact, it would not do more harm than good—is very doubtful. The worst evil of the South, as President Johnson clearly pointed out to the South Carolina delegates on Saturday, has been its class rule. A few thousand men in each State have owned most of the cultivated soil, have held most of the wealth, have had the control of the legislation and civil administration, and have kept not only black men in physical bondage, but the great mass of white men in total ignorance, and in almost complete servitude, mental and moral. This oligarchic power has practically shut out all the republican influences which have so mightily elevated all other parts of the country. The great problem now is how to break up that power.

It is claimed with great vehemence that this is to be done by giving the blacks the Suffrage. But the poor whites have always had the Suffrage, and yet they have remained subject to this oligarchy generation after generation. Votes in their hands have been simply tickets of vassalage. They have never been used in an independent way—have always confirmed, never relieved, their debasement. This fact is undisputable. If the possession of the Suffrage through all the past years has not redeemed the "white trash" of the South, what right have we to assume that it will do any more for the black men? If the poor whites have been so ignorant and stolid as to be managed like mere tools by the landed class, how shall the yet poorer blacks, yet more ignorant and stolid, escape the same fate? It is said that the negroes will know that it is not for their interest to keep the political power in the hands of their of their old masters. What assurance have we that they will know it? It was a curse to the poor whites of the South to vote as they always did in the interest of the slaveholders, and yet those poor whites did not know it. We have here in the North hundreds of thousands of the victims of foreign oppression who have been voting for the last four years, with their whole heart and soul, for the very men and the very policies that best suited their old oppressors. Intelligent people have been surprised at this—have called it incredibly inconsistent and absurd. But we have no right to apply the rules which govern intelligent men to any calculations upon the conduct of the ignorant. Ignorance, wherever it exists, always bewilders and deludes—always makes those cursed with it insensible to their most obvious interests, and fits them to be the mere tools of the designing. The freedmen will be specially exposed to this effect. Without land of their own, they will continue to work for those who have it. They will remain dependents upon the planters, will rely upon them for their livelihood, and will be particularly subject to their influence.

It has been said by some discerning Union men of the South, that there could be no surer way of perpetuating the old class rule of the South than the bestowing the Suffrage upon plantation laborers—that it would practically give the planter, who has now but a single vote, ten or fifty or a hundred votes. Whether this would prove to be the case, we cannot yet say. The relations between the races since Emancipation have not yet taken definite shape enough to justify a settled conclusion. But we do say that no one has a right to assume that the negroes, having the Suffrage, would vote to suit Northern men a thousand miles away, whom they never saw, and against the wishes and purposes of their employers. All the antecedent probabilities are against it. The assumption has nothing but vague speculation and empty hope to rest upon. To depend, under present developments, upon Negro Suffrage as the great means of reorganizing the South is sheer empiricism.—N. Y. Times.

HOW GENERAL LEE WENT INTO THE WAR.—On the Sunday when the news arrived of the fall of Sumter, a gentleman of our acquaintance, in whom we place perfect confidence took the cars at Washington to go to Richmond. Upon the train were Alexander A. H. Stuart, William Ballard Preston, and another member of the Committee which the Virginia Legislature had sent up to Washington to confer with the Government, or, more properly speaking, to see what manner of man the President was, and to spy out the land. At one of the stations beyond Alexandria, quite a crowd had collected, and eager demands were made for the news as the train came in. Stuart and Preston stepped upon the platform of the car to answer the inquiries. Our informant noticed one well dressed gentleman, who seemed to be the spokesman and chief person of the crowd. He was flourishing up and down the platform with more or less consequence, and as the train stopped, cried out, "What's the news?"

"Sumter has fallen," was the reply.

"I'll raise an army and march on Washington," exclaimed the excited individual, swinging his cane and walking uneasily about. "I'll commence to-morrow morning," he repeated, "and raise an army, and take Washington. Hadn't I better, hadn't I, Preston?" It was some time before Preston answered, so long that our friend thought he would make no reply, when he said, slowly and oracularly: "Those strange traits on deliberation."

"Was there any bloodshed?" asked the excited man.

"No."

"Wasn't there?" looking down, and speaking as if surprised. As the train moved off he was heard to repeat: "I shall raise an army and and march on Washington."

When the train was under way, our friend asked: "Who is that enthusiastic man?"

"That is Colonel Lee," said Preston.

And this is the man who has since been commander of the rebel forces, and who is represented as having very reluctantly, and only after days of prayer, drawn his sword against the Government that educated and promoted him. And it must be remembered that this occurrence took place before Virginia passed its bogus ordinance of secession, and five days before Lee's resignation. Lee did raise a force of about 3,000 men and march them to Harper's Ferry to procure arms. The intention was to march into Maryland, which it was supposed would rise at once and go out of the Union, carrying with it the National Capital, which the rebels would at once occupy, and proclaim themselves the Government of the United States. It is evident that they did not intend to go off and put themselves in the attitude of rebels, but that their plan was to take the Capital and the Government machinery, and then let the North "rebel" if they didn't like the arrangement.—Hartford Press.

LINCOLN'S FIRST DOLLAR.—One evening in the Executive Chamber there were present a number of gentlemen, among them Mr. Seward.

A point in the conversation suggested the thought, Mr Lincoln said: "Seward you never heard, did you, how I earned my first dollar?" "No," said Mr. Seward. "Well," replied he, "I was about eighteen years of age. I belonged, you know, to what they call down South the 'scrubs;' people who do not own land and slaves are nobody there. But we had succeeded in raising, chiefly by my labor, sufficient produce to justify me in taking it down the river to sell.

After much persuasion I got the consent of my mother to go, and constructed a little flatboat large enough to take a barrel or two of things that we had gathered, with myself and little bundle, down to New Orleans. A steamer was coming down the river. We have, you know, no wharves on the Western streams, and the custom was if passengers were at any of the landings for them to go out in a boat, the steamer stopping and taking them on board.

I was contemplating my new flat-boat and wondering whether I could make it stronger or improve it in any particular, when two men came down the shore in carriages with trunks, and looking at the different boats, singled out mine, and asked, 'Who owns this?' I answered somewhat modestly, 'I do.' 'Will you,' said one of the men 'take us and our trunks to the steamer?' 'Certainly,' said I. I was very glad of having the chance of earning something. I supposed that each would give me two or three bits.

The trunks were put on my flat-boat, the passengers seated themselves on the trunks, and I sculled them out to the steamboat.

They got on board, and I lifted their heavy trunks and put them on the deck. The steamer was about to steam on again, when I called out that they had forgotten to pay me. Each of them took from his pocket a silver half dollar, and threw it on the floor of my boat. I could scarcely believe my eyes as I picked up the money. Gentlemen you may think it was a very little thing, and in these days it seems like a trifle; but it was a most important incident of my life. I could scarcely credit that, I a poor boy, had earned a dollar in less than a day—that by honest work I had earned a dollar. The world seemed wider and fairer before me. I was a more hopeful and and confident being from that time."

THE PROTECTOR OF SAMUEL HOAR.—Intelligence of the death of Dr. Joshua B. Whitridge, at Greenville, South Carolina, on the 12th of April, has recently been received. He was known to this community, and respected and esteemed by them for his professional skill and worth of character. He resided before the war, in Charleston, or at his plantation on Wadmalaw Island. New Englanders going South for the benefit of their health, or for pleasure, were the recipients of his advice and his courteous hospitality. He was, in a degree, the protector of Samuel Hoar, when the chivalry and the mob of Charleston so grossly insulted the State of Massachusetts by threatening that venerable citizen, acting as her Commissioner, with Lynch law, unless he returned North at once. For his friendly counsel and firmness on the occasion, Dr. Whitridge won the esteem and love of a large circle. The Doctor, of course, remained true to the Union, and it may be his death was hastened by the losses, anxieties and persecutions brought upon him by the treasonable rebellion. At the time of his decease he was nearly, if not quite, four score years of age.—Boston Journal.

A DIFFERENCE OF OPINION.—General Grant is reported to have said that the time has not yet come to decide that suffrage cannot be extended to the negro. He thinks we may yet have to choose between keeping a standing army at an expense of a hundred millions a year, to support the white minority in the South against the white rebel majority, or of enfranchising the blacks, and thereby enabling them to support the white loyalists.

On the other hand John Minor Botts says that it would do more than anything else to perpetuate the old slave aristocracy. That they must employ, sooner or later, these men as laborers, and that it will be for their interest to be friendly; that the blacks becoming dependent upon them for employment and wages, will be guided by their advice, and become, with the suffrage, the means of rebuilding the political power of the slaveholders.

SUPERINTENDENT HUNTINGTON'S EXPEDITION.—An Indian brings us news from Fort Klamath, to the 2nd inst. Superintendent Huntington, with his party, had arrived, and was waiting for the Indians to come in. There was every prospect of the expedition proving successful. Old Paulina, the great Snake chief, with a lot of his people, was known to be on his way in for the purpose of treating, and a large number of Snakes were expected to be present at the Pow Wow. Paulina and his band without doubt will consent to be located on the Klamath Reservation, and after him it will not be difficult to collect the balance. Heretofore the number of these Indians has been greatly underrated, but inasmuch as there is a prospect of bringing them to terms, no particular importance attaches to their numbers. We shall look with interest for farther news from the expedition.—Mountaineer.

TAKING THE INFERIOR RUSHES.—A little man, asking how it happened that many beautiful ladies took up with but indifferent husbands after many fine offers, was thus aptly answered by a [illegible]: A young friend of hers, during a walk, requested her to go into a delightful cane brake and there get him the handsomest reed; she must go through without turning. She went, and coming out, brought him but quite a mean reed. When he asked if that was the handsomest one she saw, "Oh, no," replied she, "I saw many finer as I went along, but I kept on in hopes of a much better, until I had gotten nearly through, and then was obliged to select the best that was left."

Lieutenant Hobart came over from Camp Lyon yesterday, where he left the boys doing well. A party that had been sent out to Surprise Valley, reported that the troops from California were just getting into that place. A party of seven men were attacked by Indians this side of Queen's river a few days ago, and one man was killed and two wounded. Lieut. H. is ordered to Vancouver to be mustered out of the service, which is much to be regretted in the present state of affairs. He is relieved by Capt. White who arrived yesterday from Oregon.—Idaho Statesman, Aug 1st.

ALLEN'S
LUNG BALSAM!
The Remedy for Curing
CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,
Asthma, Croup,
Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration, and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION! IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.
NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL,
San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned to this State, after an absence of one year, during which time he has visited all the principal hospitals of Europe, among them those of Dublin, London and Paris. The following celebrated hospitals of London are among those visited by the Doctor: Guy's, High street, Borough; St. Bartholomew's, Smithfield; St. Mary's, Camb. Place, Pad.; Lock, Harrow road; St. Luke's, Old street; University, Gower street; Westminster, Broad Sanctuary; Charring Cross, Agar street, Strand, London, Whitechapel road; Royal Free, Gray's Inn road; King's College, Portugal street.

DOCTOR GIBBON has also visited Doctors Acton of London, Parker of Birmingham, England, and Ricord of Paris, who are considered the best physicians and surgeons in the world, and whose authority is acknowledged to be the highest in the treatment of Sexual Diseases.

DOCTOR GIBBON has obtained from them their new mode of treatment which cannot be surpassed.

DOCTOR GIBBON has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with new facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life-destroying maladies see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emission, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing, with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes; pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain Directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Prevention Better than Cure.

The newly invented Patent French Safe, a sure Preventive against Disease and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Post-office Box 252.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco, are tradesmen, and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are Gamblers, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence-office keepers, etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes in it, but you will find their former occupations in it. Look at the Directory for 1862 and 1863. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save your many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Doctor Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Doctor Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.
